

Oct 09, 2013 6:26PM

Look Inside Alexander Wang's Tokyo Flagship

Minimal to the max.

f Share 0 t Tweet 0 t Tumblr 0 g Google +1 0

Designer Alexander Wang has just opened his first Japanese flagship store and holy crap — it is sleek like an aerodynamic doberman.

Three stories high and covering 345 metres, the palace of minimalism can be found in Aoyama and stocks pretty much the whole men's and womenswear collections as well as limited edition pieces from the designer's Object No. 3 range.

We challenge you to find a better use of black and white in a retail space. You cannot!

Jerico Mandybur